

No Yard, No Problem! Here Are The 5 Best Indoor Plants To Bring Life Into Your Home

These plants can thrive in almost any room of your home!

Emily Iammarino
05/03/2018

Houseplants are a fun and easy way to add some extra life to your home. They look great and can also provide health benefits. Though, some plants are better for the home than others. ESTATENVY broke down which plants are the easiest to take care of and can grow in pretty much any room in the home. Take a look!

Snake Plant (Sansevieria trifasciata)

The Snake Plant is by far one of the most common, modern houseplants. It's easy to take care of and has a classic look that can liven up any room. The snake plant looks great on any surface in your home. A fun decorative, tabletop pot is a perfect home for this easy-going houseplant. Snake plants can also come in a larger size as well, so they also make a great floor plant.

Spider Plant (Chlorophytum)

The spider plant is a great plant for homeowners because it's a very versatile plant. You can either hang it up in a hanging planter or place it on a windowsill or coffee table in a regular tabletop planter. Its long green leaves usually stretch outwards from the planter which gives it the illusion of long spider legs. It's easy to take care of and grows well in any lighting when watered correctly.

Orchid (Phalaenopsis)

Orchids are some of the prettiest and most delicate looking houseplants that are favored by homeowners. Due to their bright, fun colors, orchids can add a fresh pop of color to any room in your home. They work wonderfully in well-lit areas like window sills. When taken care of correctly, an orchid's flowers can bloom for months. This plant is also a great gift to give new homeowners because of its size and ease of care.

Pothos Plant

Pothos plants are very popular houseplants due to their ease of care. It can grow in pretty much any room in your home if you have low light. The pothos plant is also a very versatile plant in the way you can style it in your home. "The pothos plant is good for sitting on a table or hanging," explained Judy Feldstein, plant expert and owner of Houseplant 411. The pothos plant can also add a jungle-like feel to any room in your home due to its large deep green leaves with slight yellow marbling. But make sure to keep this plant away from pets and young children because it can be poisonous!

Succulent

Succulents are the newest plant craze that homeowners are obsessing over. You've probably seen these cute little spikey guys all over Instagram and in any home goods store. Succulents are a popular option for homeowners because they are by far the easiest houseplant to take care of and they are extremely versatile. Succulents store water in their leaves, so they don't require as much watering as other plants. Succulents also come in many different shapes, sizes and colors so they are perfect for almost any room in your home!

All of the houseplants that we've listed below are highly recommended for the average homeowner. They're also relatively easy to find. If you're looking for your next houseplant you can usually pick them up at your local hardware store or greenhouse. Or you can even find some online from places like The Sill or PlantShed.